

- Which printer/queue to print to
 - The destination printer for any print job is determined either by the user (keyer) at time of entering the data or (if the job is an ftp job) the program generating the job.
- What data is included in this flat file
 - The data included in any flat file is dependent on the type of form being generated. Attached are several data samples to illustrate the variances that exist.
- What is the name of the form to use to print to
 - Each form has a unique name. There are currently a total of 61 different forms (see attached Forms Manual detail).
- The new solution will merge the data in the flat file with a form and then send the output to a printer and all jobs will follow the same pattern, is this correct?
 - Generally speaking, this is correct however, the solution will need to have the ability to send any job to any printer/queue at any time. Not just one specific printer/queue.
